Principles Overview

Dear colleague,

This is our Code of Conduct. It guides us in how we do business and how we treat each other and our business partners.

Our Code of Conduct conveys what we at Investor stand for, and what is expected from us as Investor employees. Our reputation is one of our most valuable assets, and while it has taken us more than 100 years to build, any of us could quickly undermine it.

The Code of Conduct is also a great practical guide helping us to avoid ending up in such situations where our business integrity and ultimately our license to operate could be jeopardized.

Each of you are a critical part of our trusted team and instrumental for our ability to fulfill our purpose.

I expect you to read and understand our Code of Conduct and use it for reference. At Investor we work as a team and we help each other to solve tricky situations. Therefore, reach out and ask for help if you feel uncertain.

”Our Code of Conduct guides us in how we do business and how we treat each other and our business partners”

Principles Overview

Purpose of our Code

The Code of Conduct, which is based on our core values, is a statement of Investor's commitment to business integrity in everything we do. It establishes expected behaviors, clarifies what is considered good business practice and ultimately helps us all make better decisions.

Who does it apply to?

The Code of Conduct applies to all employees and the Board of Directors of Investor AB.

These principles provide the framework on ethical standards for business partners including consultants and other suppliers, which is further described in Investor AB's Supplier Code of Conduct.

The boards and management teams of the operating subsidiaries within Patricia Industries, as well as our listed companies, set their own Codes of Conduct and ethical guidelines that applies for their businesses.

Our core values

Create value

We strive to create value in everything we do, ultimately generating returns for our shareholders and benefiting people and society. Creating value is the guiding principle for our priorities, decisions and actions.

Care for people

Building strong and sustainable businesses requires talented and motivated people. Our collaborative, respectful and transparent working environment is an instrumental part of our culture.

Challenge and improve

We firmly believe that there is always room for improvement. It is crucial for us as an engaged owner as well as in our daily work. We constantly challenge ourselves and our companies to be innovative and to work smarter.

Contribute with heart and mind

Our success is driven by the talent, expertise and passion of our employees. Everyone is expected to contribute and create positive impact.

Principles Overview

How to use the Code

The Code of Conduct guides us in resolving potentially difficult situations and issues that could compromise our values and business principles. The Code is also what we stand for and what we expect of our employees. The Code of Conduct is an overall document to which our policies and internal procedures are linked.

As an employee of Investor you are responsible for reading and understanding the Code of Conduct, as well as our other Policies and Procedures, and how they apply to your particular job or position. You are responsible for adhering to the Code and for seeking guidance in case of doubt. Managers have a special responsibility to ensure that the Code is promoted and practiced - to set the tone and lead by example.

When in doubt

In some situations you may find that the Code of Conduct does not give sufficient guidance. Each employee is trusted to use their best judgment and common sense to decide what is the right thing to do. When considering an ethical dilemma, we do not ask “What am I allowed to do?” but rather “What is the right thing to do?”

If you are confronted with a situation where the Code of Conduct does not provide guidance the following questions may be helpful to ask yourself:

- Do I consider this to be legal, fair and ethical?
- If this became publicly disclosed could it have a negative impact on the confidence, trust or credibility of Investor?
- Would I approve of this situation if I was a colleague, a shareholder, a counterpart or other stakeholder?

If you are uncertain whether a decision or activity is ethically acceptable or legal, guidance should be sought from your manager or our General Counsel.

Compliance with the Code

Compliance with the Code is central. Annual training is provided and all employees confirm their commitment by signing the Code of Conduct on an annual basis.

If there is a conflict between the requirements in the Code of Conduct and local law or regulations, you should make sure to comply with the strictest of requirements.

Any employee who does not act ethically or violates this Code or our Policies may be subject to disciplinary action. Depending on the facts and circumstances, this action could include dismissal.

Raise concerns and whistleblowing

If you, as an employee or any other party affected by our business would discover potential or actual breaches of regulatory or internal requirements, unethical or unlawful behavior, you should report your observations.

Talk to your manager, General Counsel, Compliance or report via the whistleblowing channel available on Investor's intranet and website. You can choose to be anonymous. All cases are thoroughly investigated and addressed. Retaliation is not tolerated against an individual that is reporting suspected misconduct.

Principles Overview

Responsible and ethical behavior

Our most valuable assets include our employees, reputation and network. We will take every step necessary to protect and preserve the trust and credibility we have earned since Investor was founded in 1916. Being efficient and competitive are essential parts of our success, as is fair play.

Business integrity

We comply fully with the laws, rules and ethical principles that govern us.

Bribery and Corruption

We do not tolerate bribery or corruption under any circumstances. We refrain from giving and receiving any inducement, including gifts and entertainment, that could risk creating an unhealthy loyalty or be perceived to do so.

Conflicts of Interest

We are committed to avoiding situations involving conflicts of interest. If such situations occur, we are expected to disclose and address the situation. Potential conflicts of interest can include assignments outside of Investor or private transactions and must always be made in line with internal procedures.

Fair competition

We acknowledge our duty to act honestly and fairly when dealing with counterparts, suppliers or anyone else affected by our business.

Public policy engagements

We do not support political parties through donations or otherwise. When engaging in dialogues with governments, policymakers and other public bodies, we do it with a purpose to contribute with our view and perspectives. We always do so responsibly and in accordance with applicable transparency laws.

Principles Overview

Responsible investments

As an engaged, long-term owner of many companies in several different industries, Investor plays an important role in society. We make an impact primarily through engaged ownership, board representation and the capital we invest.

Responsible investment activities

We firmly believe that sustainability goes hand in hand with value creation, both in terms of reducing risk and capturing business opportunities.

Therefore, we take potential broader environmental and social impact into consideration when making investment and ownership decisions.

Climate and environment

We are committed to the Paris Agreement. We contribute to the transition to a zero-emission society by supporting and requiring that our companies improve their environmental impact.

Human Rights

We are committed to several global initiatives and codes of conduct. Among them are UN Global Compact, International Bill of Human Rights and OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

Principles Overview

Transparent communication, protecting assets and information

Open and transparent communication are cornerstones for building trust. We encourage information sharing within the organization to ensure efficient use of available knowledge and experience. Confidential information is only shared on a need-to-know-basis.

Transparent communication

We are open, professional and transparent in all our communication. As a listed company we communicate with our stakeholders simultaneously.

Financial- and sustainability reporting

We have established high reporting standards where each employee involved in the recording, processing and reporting of information is expected to safeguard its validity, correctness and relevance.

Confidential information

We protect confidential information, handle information carefully and do not share with unauthorized parties. Unauthorized disclosure of or access to information can cause material damage.

Inside information

We treat inside information with due care and in accordance with laws and as well as internal regulations. Inside information is information which is not public and if made public could have significant impact on the price of an instrument. Inside information is unlawful to act upon and share and must be kept strictly confidential.

Privacy

We acknowledge the importance of data ethics and respect every individual's fundamental right to protect personal data. We take appropriate action to protect personal data and we comply with applicable data privacy rules for storing, collecting and processing personal data.

● A great place to work

Principles Overview

A great place to work

We aim to offer a safe and healthy working environment where all employees are respected and feel included. We are convinced that diversity leads to better decision-making and outcomes over time.

Health and well-being

A healthy work environment is essential to the well-being of our employees. We work proactively to ensure a sustainable work environment.

Diversity and Inclusion

We strive to create a work environment and culture that is ambitious, inclusive and free from unconscious bias and discrimination. We recruit, promote and compensate on the basis of merit.

Teamwork and development

We take time to listen, are transparent and non-hierarchical, and we encourage collaboration. We encourage employees to actively develop their skills, and also to help colleagues develop. We embrace constructive feedback as an important means to grow.

Treating colleagues with respect

We aim to offer a working environment where all employees are treated fairly. In alignment with labor and human rights, we have established structures to ensure there is no discrimination. We uphold everyone's right to fair and favorable working conditions and freedom of association.
