Investor proposes review of Husqvarna's share structure to create greater liquidity in A-shares

As noted in Investor's Interim Report for January-March 2006, Investor will treat Husqvarna as a core investment. Investor supports the proposal by Electrolux's board to introduce the same share structure in Husqvarna as in Electrolux.

In order to create greater liquidity in Husqvarna's A-shares, Investor intends to propose to the board and other shareholders in Husqvarna, after the company is listed, that the share structure is reviewed so that approximately one fourth of the company's capital is represented by A-shares.
